Dear Mr. Cazenave:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Space, I am pleased to announce that Télécoms Sans Frontières has been selected to receive the Space Foundation's distinguished Space Achievement Award, which we present annually to an individual or organization that has made significant contribution – personal, programmatic, organizational or technology – in advancing the exploration, development or utilization of space. Previous winners have included the Hubble Telescope Repair Mission Team, the China's Shenzhou 7 Manned Space Flight Team and Bigelow Aerospace.

The Space Foundation is an international, nonprofit organization, and the foremost advocate for all sectors of the space industry. Annually, the Space Foundation presents the National Space Symposium, in support of its mission "to advance space-related endeavors to inspire, enable and propel humanity." Headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colo., the Space Foundation conducts research and analysis and government affairs activities from its Washington, D.C., office and has field representatives in Houston, Texas, and Cape Canaveral, Fla.

We selected Télécoms Sans Frontières for the 2011 Space Achievement Award to recognize your key role in strengthening coordination and communication by deploying telecommunications in disasters and emergencies. Providing broadband Internet access, voice communications, fax lines and IT equipment needed for a field office is an essential service provided to both rescue efforts and the surviving victims of tragedy. We honor your use of highly portable and light satellite terminals deployable within minutes with worldwide coverage, and your TSFs teams who are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Mr. Cazenave, we wish to present the Space Achievement Award to you on Monday evening, April 11, 2011, during the Opening Ceremony of the 27th National Space Symposium at The Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs. The opening ceremony is attended by more than 1,200 distinguished guests and media. We would be honored to have you join us to accept this recognition and award.

For further information, your staff may contact Kaye Kerr, Manager – Protocol Services, at (719) 576-8000 or KKerr@SpaceFoundation.org.
